Lyon St. Exupéry airport is probably the most convenient airport for flying to Grenoble. Most European airlines fly here.

BUS

The easiest way to get to Grenoble from Lyon St. Exupéry airport is to take the shuttle bus. Satobus buses run every hour between 7:30 a.m. and 10:30 p.m. The trip takes just over one hour. Click here to find the schedule of the buses. The departure point from Lyon St. Exupéry airport is located on the Departures level in Terminal 1, close to the passage to Terminal 2. The buses arrive in Grenoble at the bus station (Gare Routière), located right next to the train station. The bus costs 20 euros for a one-way fare and 30 euros for a return fare. You may either buy your ticket directly from the driver (in which case you must pay in cash) or from the Satobus ticket desk just by the departure point.

TRAIN

There are few trains (around 3) a day that travel between Lyon St. Exupéry airport and Grenoble. These are not as convenient as taking the bus (in fact, they take 10 minutes longer to get to Grenoble than the bus!), and you must make a reservation in advance. You can view a schedule of trains serving Lyon St Exupéry airport. You can also consult schedules and make reservations on the SNCF's website. Enter "Lyon St Exupery TGV" as your Departure station, and "Grenoble" as your Destination station.

LATE ARRIVAL

If you arrive very late at Lyon airport and have missed the last shuttle bus and the last train, we recommend that you stay in a hotel near the airport or take a taxi. A taxi between Lyon St Exupéry airport and Grenoble is rather expensive (well over 100 euros!). For example, the Lyon Satolas Kyriad Hotel (Phone: +33 (0)4 72 23 90 90 Fax +33 (0)4 72 23 80 32) is 5 minutes from the airport by free shuttle bus and costs less than 100 euros per night.
